WHAT WE DO FOR TULSA

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Community service is at the core of Tulsa Symphony Orchestra’s mission. TSO’s Heart Strings program offers the comfort and healing powers of music to residents, caregivers, and staff at area senior and assisted living facilities, hospitals, and soup kitchens. On the Saturday afternoons following Fridays in the Loft performances, Tulsa Symphony musicians present an encore performance of the chamber music program at a local senior living facility. This performance is live streamed to multiple area senior and assisted living facilities. These concerts unite and rejuvenate one of Tulsa’s vulnerable populations through the warmth and joy of music.

EDUCATION OUTREACH

Tulsa Symphony Orchestra’s education programs enhance learning, promote success, and enrich lifelong relationships with music for over 20,000 children in the Tulsa region. Tulsa Symphony’s programs include Rosa Parks Music Exploration, Carnegie Hall LinkUp, Symphony by the Sea, and STEAM programming. Students learn through engaging experiences with individual members of the symphony, small ensembles, and interactive performances with full orchestra that inspire creative and cross-curricular growth. These programs allow students to draw meaningful connections between diverse educational curriculum and underscore the important role of the arts in a complete education.

MASTERFUL CONCERTS

Tulsa Symphony Orchestra presents over 30 major performances per season that touch over 55,000 people in the Northeast Oklahoma region. Our performances feature classical masterworks, movies with live orchestra, and intimate chamber music works. The TSO has collaborated with internationally-renowned artists Wynton Marsalis, Joshua Bell, Amy Grant, Eric Whitacre, Sarah Coburn, Yefim Bronfman, Rachel Barton Pine, Robin Sutherland, and Hanson.
